In particular, the importance of rural revitalization strategy implementation is mainly manifested in the following respects.

1.1 Rural revitalization strategy is the objective requirement of promote the overall development level of rural

Due to the obvious regional differences in China's economic and social development, many of the country presented the different development present situation, some country with its high quality land, technology and human resources to achieve the high quality of economic development, some country for its good life environment become characteristics, cultural tourism country, and because the country is due to the lack of various resources and free on the poverty line. The difference between the life and development of rural development direction, ability and level of the condition of varied widely. he implementation of the strategy of rejuvenation through rural, can make clear from the aspects such as economy, culture and life of rural development objectives, guide the rural implementation all sides equalization development, so as to promote the development of the overall level. Such as the rural economy to class can devote more resources to the development of cultural content, to enrich the spirit of the villagers cultural life.

1.2 Country revitalization strategy is to implement the country for the development of high quality

The country revitalization strategy is to implement the country of Jinping Xi high quality development of the general secretary in 19 major report clearly pointed out that implement the strategy of rejuvenating the country should insist on priority to the development of agriculture and rural areas, according to industry prosperity, ecological livable, local custom civilization, well-off general requirements, in order to develop effectively, these requirements is a new era in the development of socialism with Chinese characteristics to realize rural work the profound connotation of high quality development, and is also the key to implement strategy of rejuvenating the country. Through implement the strategy of rejuvenating the country, we can promote the rural economy, ecology, culture, life and other aspects of optimization, so as to realize the countryside has been a steady increase in the quality of the overall development, build a batch of high quality country, leading the new development of the agriculture rural farmers.

1.3 Rural revitalization strategy is the focus of attention in condensed rural development force

Rural revitalization strategy is the focus of attention in condensed rural development force according to the National Bureau of Statistics released in February 2018, according to data from China's rural poverty population is 30.46 million people, said the Ming poverty is still the main bottleneck of restrict the rural development in China. Focusing on the number of poor people mouth at the same time also want to see the condition of the uneven distribution of poverty population, more poverty population distribution in the region economy development lags behind, and to promote poverty reduction force for poverty alleviation resources have the dispersion characteristics of larger extent, hampering the development of the rural comprehensive strength, make the high quality cannot get effective use of resources. Through the country, the implementation of the strategy of rejuvenating topic can be crucial for poverty alleviation as will those scattered resources for effective integration, cohesion force, strong development focus on solve the rural poverty problem, thus eliminating the constraints of poor farmers in rural areas.

2 Rural revitalization of the implementation of the strategy of path

Through the above analysis we can see that the country revitalization strategy as an important work to promote the development of rural comprehensive strength, rich in rural development paths, promote national development comprehensive real force plays a significant role. But need to be aware of is the country revitalization is surrounding the conflict resolution which restrict the development of the rural high quality of innovation, the crucial activities, in addition to the need to have sufficient motivation and sense of responsibility, also need to have, the guidance of the scientific method is the only way to ensure the efficient implementation of the strategy. Specifically, the country revitalization of the implementation of the strategy of need from the following several aspects.

2.1 Combined with the local characteristics, adjust measures to local conditions the development of rural industry

Industry is the foundation of rural development, is the precondition of farmers richer. In the development of local industry, to development must be combined with local characteristics. Only on the premise of not go against nature, to seek long-term development, only understand hills and green that jinshan yinshan, can we develop the flourishing industry for a long time, so, when choosing industry must choose suitable for the development of the industry in this region, not at the expense of the environment, should choose to ecological livable industry, and combined with local characteristics to choose suitable for their own development industry. According to the local actual situation to industry, seeks the development.

Combining with local climate condition, soil environment and other objective conditions to determine what kind of industry development. Not blindly follow suit, only to find suitable for the local industry, and does not destroy the local ecological environment of the industry, remember the general secretary of the green water castle peak is the entrust to jinshan yinshan long development.

2.2 Keep rural energy, safe employment guarantee rural population

The rural population structure is not balanced, the old man, women and children staying behind for a great proportion, QingZhuang labor migrant work more to make a living, the proportion of rural population flow to urban increase year by year. The vitality of rural development is insufficient, lack of power, a lack of rural in young adults, it is difficult to have enough energy to ensure rural revitalization. So, to increase rural employment, guarantee in the time of the country, there are enough jobs for Qingzhuang labor to make a living. The Way to strengthen the government's policy support, making linked with agricultural enterprises of the country, driving the development of rural economy, create jobs, and more to the development of local industry, increase countryside to find suitable for the development of local industries, and makes the farmers' income guaranteed, labor have something can be, there are living for^[3].

2.3 The scientific and effective management, introduce talents construction of innovative country

New era to promote rural revitalization, insist on the reform to the power, the innovation vigor, under the scientific and effective management mechanism, promote the comprehensive revitalization of the country. We must have the courage to grasp key, short, strong or weak, scientific grasp the law of rural industry revitalization. Introduction of agricultural science and technology, and understand more rural management talents, and strengthen the training of local agriculture and rural areas of science and technology leader, to area and scientific technology, people are suggested. At the same time, increase the intensity of mastering cultivate to policy tilt, introduce talents, retain the cadre, have the ability to mobilize the party and government organs institution cadres to join to rural revitalization of the career, to rural revitalization inject new vitality continuously.

At the same time, dare to use bold courage to explore the mechanism of the new rural system reform, the innovation of contemporary rural development mechanism, the innovation of contemporary rural development industry, activate agriculture and rural areas.

2.4 Increase policy support, guarantee rural infrastructure construction

Rural revitalization should not only has the support of industrial support, talents, more should have good policy support, good policy can play a guiding role, constantly promote talent actively, land, capital inflows. According to the current principal contradiction in our country, according to the current situation of the urban and rural development is not balanced, more to pay attention to the construction of rural infrastructure, increase investment in education, basic health, conform to the broad masses of peasants is yearning for a better life and look forward to.

Only constantly improve rural infrastructure, rural population structure stable development, otherwise, the influx of rural population to cities, rural revitalization of the lack of energy, cannot achieve the masses of the people's yearning for a better life. Therefore, we need to intensify policy support, and constantly strengthen the construction of rural infrastructure, which must keep up with the corresponding software and hardware construction, only rural construction, to improve the farmers get feeling, happiness and security.

Above is further analysis in this paper, the strategy of rejuvenating rural path, since the 19th congress, implement the strategy of rejuvenating the country is in order to solve the relationship of the national economy and people's livelihood the important deployment of "three rural problems", how to butt out of poverty to overcome and rural revitalization is worth our further exploration, as long as the full implementation of rural revitalization strategy, to achieve the comprehensive development of our country.
